

Helping people like Marie Claire learn skills to provide for her family and community

Marie Claire, from Rwanda, lost her mother at 18 and had to bring up her six siblings. Mothers' Union were there for her during this difficult time and taught Marie Claire craft-making skills which she now uses to earn money for her family. Marie Claire has also set up a workshop to pass on her skills to orphaned children.

Mothers' Union – helping people start businesses so they can earn a living for their family.